SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A Lenten Lesson. A Lenten Lesson.

It was early in Lent,
And as Mabel was firm on
Daily service, I went
With her once for the sermon;
"As ye sow, ye shall reap,"
Was the text. I was able
Twenty minutes to sleep
And have visions of Mabel.

As for Mabel, you know
When a girl gets a notion
It's her duty to sew,
She will prove her devotion;
She went straightway and brought
Wire and ribbon and feather,
And in forty days caught
Them in beauty together.

When the wonder was done,
And as trim as a sonnet,
Mabel whispered in fun"You're the bee for this bonnet!"
Ah, that text had held fast;
For, without any warning,
Mebel reaped me at last
On the bright Easter morning.

Mr. Taylor's Reply.

Mr. Taylor's Reply.

The treasurer of Lee Camp Auxiliary gays; At the meeting of Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on Wednesday forencon, at 11 o'clock, the letter published in The Times-Dispatch, written by Mr. Camm Patteson, and asking for funds to enable two Confederate Veterans to receive hospital treatment, was brought to the attention of chapter members.

Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor stated that the Virginia Hospital had, the very day after Mr. Patteson's letter appeared, offered free treatment to the Confederate veterans mentioned in it.

The Richmond Chapter president, as a member of Lee Camp Auxiliary, spoke in very decided terms concerning the injustice done Confederate organizations by such appeals through the columns of the newspapers, when, said she, it is a known fact that the surgeons of Richmond always respond cheerfully to all Euch need as those mentioner by Mr. Pratteson.

a known fact that the surgeons of Mchipmond always respond cheerfully to all such need as those mentioned by Mr. Patteson.

The annual report of Doctor Dear, for Lee Camp Soldiers' Home, continued the President, showed that the Richmond doctors always gave ready response to his requests for consultations, and when surgical cases demanded special treatment, such cases were accommodated in Richmond hospitals.

A copy of a letter written March 5th, by Mr. Edgar Tawlor to Mr. Patteson, in response to his appeal, is inserted hiere. The letter says:

Richmond Virginia, March, 5th, 1906.

Bionorable Camm Patteson.

Senate Chamber, City:

Dear Sir.—I read your letter in the Times-Dispatch of Sunday, the 4th, in regard to the two old Confederate soldiers who need hospital treatment, as well as surgical and medical treatment.

I had a talk with a member of the staff of the Virginia Hospital, after reading your article, and he requests me to say that if you will get the attending physician of these two old Confederates to send him a statement of their condition, and if hospital treatment and inedical and surgical attention will be of any benefit to them, we will cheerfully take them free of charge at the Virginia Hospital, where they will receive every attention—so far as medical and surgical attention and nursing is concerned.

Get the physician to address his letter to Dr. H. M. Taylor, No. 6 North Fifth Bireet, Richmond, Va.

I would suggest that you attend to this at once, if you wish them to come to the hospital, as it is very much crowded and we will have to make space for them. Should they come here, you can rest assured that they will have every attention possible, and I hope it may be the means of prolonging their lives.

Yours respectfully,

E. D. TAYLOR.

A SERENADE.

By EDWARD COATE PINKNEY.

Another selection from this writer, together with his biographical sketch, has already been printed in this series.

OOK out upon the stars, my love,
And shame them with thine eyes,
On which, than on the lights above, There hang more destinies.

Night's beauty is the harmony
Of blending shades and light;
Then, lady, up—look out, and be
A sister to the night!

Sleep not!—thine image wakes for aye
Within my watching breast;
Sleep not!—from her soft sleep should fly,
Who robs all hearts of rest.
Nay, lady, from thy slumbers break,
And make this darkness gay,
With looks whose brightness well might make
Of darker nights a day.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1903. One is published each day.

Enoch Arden.

"Themis," the organ of Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity, of Richmond College, has made its quarterly appearance in attractive guise.

The Richmond editor of the magazine is Miss L. B. Mason, of No. 722 East Franklin Street, this city. The frontispiece is an attractive group showing the fifteen members of Alpha Chapter in the State Normal College, at Farmville, Va. A well 'selected and arranged table of contents' follow:

The magazine announces the assembling of the third national convention of Zeta Tau Alpha, to be held in Barbarn Blount Hall, Knoxville, Tennessee, June Mth, Eth and 16th, with Zeta Chapter as hostess.

The editor of "Themis" says that "plans for our June convention are progressing merrily, and there is every indication that the June gathering will be the largest and most representative of any in our history."

IS LENHART A DESERTER?

Tells Police That He Will Have Hard Time if Taken Back,

Hard Time if Taken Back, C. L. Lenhart, an alleged deserter from the United States navy, was before Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning. The case was continued until the 2nd, in order to give Sergeant Balley, who made the capture, time in which to communicate with the navy officials.

Lenhart, according to a statement he made to the police, enlisted on the first of March and tiring of the work last week skipped out. He traded his sailor uniform and then came to Richmond. He was easily found, and will be taken back and for the next thirty days or more will live on bread and water in addition to having to pay for the uniform that he lost as well as the reward that is offered for his capture.

JUSTICE JOHN CUTS NEGRO HANGERS ON

Darkeys Can't Attend Police Court Unless They Have

Business The The court of Justice John Jeter Crutch-

field yesterday was not as it has been in the past. The docket was a very light one and the attendance was small. The edict had gone forth that no negroes should be allowed in the court negroes should be allowed in the court room unless they were principals or witnesses in some case to be heard. As a result of this order of the court there were very few spectators. Not before in twelve months has the attendance been so small.

MISS MARBLE MAKING FRIENDS

Dainty Actress Holding Those Already Made and Adding to List-Mrs. Wiggs.

Miss Mildred Holland will be seen at the Academy on Friday night. It is a pleasant task to chronicle the coming of preasant task to caronice the coming of this accomplished and magnetic actress. Her performances are invariably of such dignity, strength and brilliancy that to witness them is to indulge in an intel-lectual and artistic treat. Her art is deficacy itself, because she is one of the most finished artists upon the American stage. Miss Holland will present, for the first time in this city, Carina Jordan's romantle drama, "The fairy and the Prince."

Quaint "Mrs. Wiggs."

Quaint "Mrs. Wiggs."

The quaintest, most original and most successful of current plays comes fresh from record runs in New York and Chicago to the Academy next Wednesday and Thursday, with a matinee on Thursday, with a matinee on Thursday, in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," whose name is a synonym for delightful fun from one end of the continent to the other, and throughout England. In the dramatization of Mrs. Rice's book, Lovely Mary and pathetic little Tommy are introduced with Mrs. Wiggs, and rival her in interest. It is a play crowded with heart interest and abounding in salient American types of a vigor not to be forgotten. Liebler & Co cast the play marvellously well, despite the great number of exacting roles, and among the players whose names will ever after be linked with the production are Mrs. Madge Carr Cook as Mrs. Wiggs, Helen Lowell as Miss Hazy and Charles Carter as Mr. Stubbins, The charming humor of the original tales of life in the Cabbage Patch has been heightened and depended. The entire New York cast and production will be seen here. The sale of seats begins Monday morning.
